

Surviving - Spouse Membership

The death of a loved one brings many sorrows; what it shouldn't bring is the loss of friendships and the feeling of fulfillment by serving a community through a partnership in service. For so many Lions, family involvement is deeply ingrained in the tradition of club service. Wives and husbands - partners in life - work equally well together as partners in service.

When a spouse passes away, that tradition of service to others should remain unbroken. A surviving spouse can too often feel isolated and alone; offering a club membership is a thoughtful and kind way to continue a pattern of service that has already proven its value. Not only will this new Lion be an asset to your club, you have extended a hand in fellowship to the surviving spouse to continue friendships and forge a new path in the direction of community service.

Spouses of deceased Lions (in good standing of 10 or more years before their death) will be invited into membership where the entrance fee of US$25 will be waived. The spouse will be responsible for International dues and any other club or district dues as levied.
